

RESOURCES for learning more:

<https://votesmart.org/education/states#.X259u2hKiUk> Votesmart.org – educational website that explains vocabulary used in elections and governance, what the different branches of government are, some state and federal elected positions.

<https://vtdigger.org/2020/08/10/candidates-see-oversight-potential-in-the-little-used-position-of-high-bailiff/> VTDigger has a great explanation of High Bailiff.

<https://auditor.vermont.gov/reports> The state auditor's office has a comprehensive website about what the state auditor does.

<https://ago.vermont.gov/> The state attorney general's office has a short description of the job and a lot of reporting of what the current AG has done (hey – we're in an election year – what did you expect?)

<https://ltgov.vermont.gov/> The Lieutenant Governor's office has a good description of the job and a lot of reporting of what the current LG has done (hey- see above – although this one's running for Governor)

<https://www.vermonttreasurer.gov/> Likewise with the State Treasurer's office

You can search for any title for any office, and you can search for individual candidates – all the information is out there for us to learn about before we vote. Our vote is our voice – let's use it with confidence and wisdom.
